A CONVERSATION WITH THE AUTHOR

WHY DID YOU WRITE THE TEETH THAT RAN AWAY? WHAT WERE YOUR INSPIRATIONS?

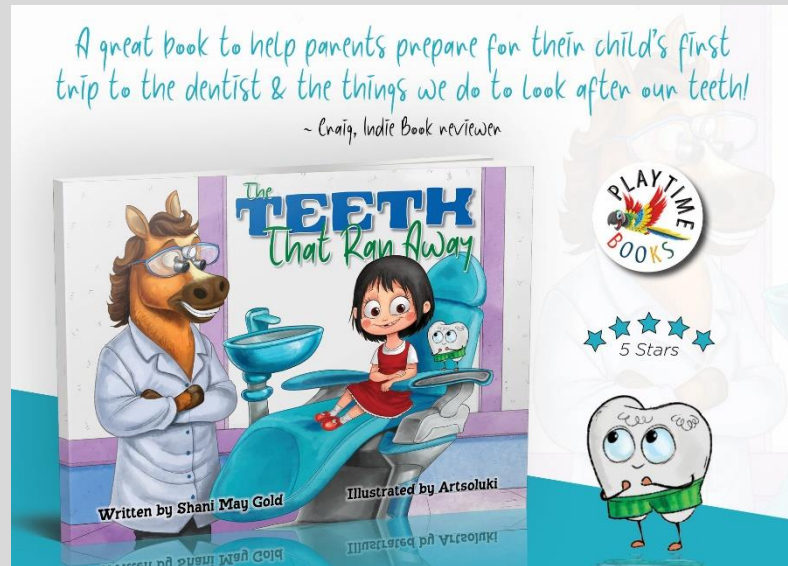

My daughter was about to take her first dentist experience at three years. Many of my friends with young children had told me how trialling the first experience was due to the unknown of the dental chair. I had many conversations with other mums about the challenges of getting your child to brush their teeth without fighting and the constant battle of sweets versus vegetables. They all had similar experiences. I told this tale as a bedtime story every night that week for my daughter considering all of these things as a parent ahead of our dentist visit to create excitement. The day of our dentist appointment she was more excited than going to her first ballet class on the same day!

WHEN DID YOU FIRST REALISE YOU WANTED TO WRITE?

When my daughter asked me to repeat my story to her another night!
