

Euca was startled awake as a huge laugh rumbled throughout the tree.

Euca had never heard anything like it before but his mum explained,
'That noise belongs to Quincy the kookaburra,
who is a very happy chappy.'

As Euca ate his breakfast full of yummy nutrients, that same bellowing laugh echoed in his ears.
It made Euca giggle. 'His laugh makes me laugh.'

When his tummy was full, Euca found a spot to watch the mysterious kookaburra to find out for himself just what was SO funny!

Watching from a distance, Euca saw an almighty gust of wind topple Quincy off the branch and to the ground.

But did Quincy seem worried?
No.

Instead, Quincy laughed his echoing laugh as he flew back to his perch.
