

SANTA DOWN UNDER

Written by Gayle Royal Errington - Illustrated by Emma Hay

ON A SNOWY CHRISTMAS EVE

Santa leaves the cold of the North Pole to travel with his reindeer to the land down under where the night becomes very hot.

Not used to the heat of the tropics, Santa's reindeer become tired and need to rest.

Sonar the whale, along with some outback friends, arrive to assist Santa in delivering Christmas presents to all the children in Australia and New Zealand.

This is the untold story of Santa's Christmas adventure down under...

"A rollicking good Christmas book for children all around the world to show that Christmas in some countries is not all about building snowmen and celebrating in front of warm fires. Great book for all to enjoy!" Angus, Indie Book reviewer

AUTHOR BIO

Gayle was born and brought up in New Zealand, married in 1966 and had three children. The family moved to Australia in 1979. She now has six grown grandchildren. All her life she had Christmas in the summer that was always associated as cold with snow. For many years she wanted to write a book on Christmas in the sun. So that is how Santa Down Under came about.
