JACK & STELLA'S STORY

TRACY-LEE PULLAN

SOME OF THE BEST MOMENTS IN YOUR LIFE ARE THE ONES YOU CAN NEVER TELL ANYONE ABOUT...

Stella knew she had to share her story about her passion with Jack before she burst!

Their chemistry was off the charts!!

From the moment they'd met at a simple job interview, to the day their lips touched for the first time...

The Universe knew they were meant to be together and their destiny would be written in the stars... They were going to get together no matter what, especially if Stella had her say! No one would get in her way when it came to her true love and her destined happiness... Well, at least she hoped that would be the case and not another disaster story...

But let's continue now with Jack and Stella's true love story and find out together... Shall we?

"A romp of good measure in romantic idealism and innocent fun with a twist of dreaming... Great read and clever tale..." Diana, Indie Book reviewer

AUTHOR BIO

Tracy-Lee Pullan was born in Wellington and grew up in Tauranga, which is located in the Bay of Plenty, a region in the North Island of New Zealand.

She moved to Sydney 33 years ago where she lives with her husband and two sons.

An avid reader from a very young age, Tracy-Lee's passion for writing has grown over the years and finally she has written her first novel. She decided that it was never going to be too late to start writing and since beginning to seriously write in early 2021, she has not stopped.

When she isn't busy writing, you can usually find her hiking with family and friends. A lot of her writing inspiration comes from time spent exploring the Australian bush. She is particularly fond of the Blue Mountains and her favourite walk up there is the one to the Ruined Castle.

A CONVERSATION WITH THE AUTHOR

WHY DID YOU WRITE 'FOREVER LOVE'? WHAT WERE YOUR INSPIRATIONS?

I can't even really explain to anyone how this book came about. It really started as a recurring dream that I would wake up from and couldn't get it out of my mind. It played out so clearly in my mind and I got to the stage that I decided to write it out almost like a diary to try and get it out of my head.

Once I started this, a story started to unfold very quickly and very clearly. From that point on, it started building into something more than a diary and I started putting it into chapters. Then it developed into dialogue and the story that it has become.

HOW HAD YOU DECIDED ON THE BEST CHARACTERS FOR THE BOOK?

I started with my two main characters - Jack and Stella. I had already thought of their descriptions as explained in the next question. The other characters were developed at the same time and built on when they started to feature in the story. All the main characters had names and backgrounds. Anyone who isn't crucial to the story is referred to by what part they play i.e., they could be a boss of one of the characters. If it is relevant, they are given a name, but I don't really describe them as it doesn't add any value to the story. Obviously, I would if they were a bad boss, or they started to feature more in the overall plot.

HOW DO YOU CREATE OR MODEL YOUR CHARACTERS TO FIT THE REQUIREMENTS OF THE STORY AND THE EXPECTATIONS OF THE READERS?

I have a handwritten plan for all of my characters before I start writing. This shows me every detail on my characters. How tall they are, their complexion, any particular features i.e., dimples, I know what they do for a job, where they live. And I constantly refer to this all the way through my books to ensure consistency. I don't start writing until I have this concept clear in my mind.

WHAT DREW YOU TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE BOOK AND ALSO THESE CHARACTERS WITHIN?

The whole concept of the universe has always interested me my whole life. I seem to live my life based on the direction the universe sends me in. I am a firm believer that we meet the people we are meant to and there is always a reason. This story evolved from this belief and the characters relationship was built upon them having instant chemistry and realising that they were soul mates
