ABOUT THE AUTHOR

I discovered a passion for children's books while reading to my son from a very young age. Although, I quickly found out through my own experience of buying and borrowing books that the market for young boys in the 7-10yo age group was not always well catered for. This gave me the inspiration to start writing and illustrating.

A few years ago, I started writing a series of comic books for my son and his friends in grades three to five. The feedback I received from the students, teachers and parents was overwhelming, with my son's friends constantly asking for the next installment. This gave me the confidence to pursue writing and illustrating children's books on a professional basis. I hope children and adults alike will enjoy my works and gain a chuckle at our Aussie humour.

A CONVERSATION WITH THE AUTHOR

WHEN DID YOU FIRST REALIZE YOU WANTED TO WRITE?

About five years ago, I started writing a series of comic books for my son and his friends in grades three to five. The feedback I received from the students, teachers and parents was overwhelming, with my son's friends constantly asking for the next instalment. This gave me the confidence to pursue writing and illustrating children's books on a professional basis.

WHERE DO YOU GET YOUR INFORMATION OR IDEAS FOR YOUR BOOKS?

I look for humour in everyday life and put that into my work.

DO YOU HAVE ANY SUGGESTIONS TO HELP OTHERS BECOME A BETTER WRITER? IF SO, WHAT ARE THEY?

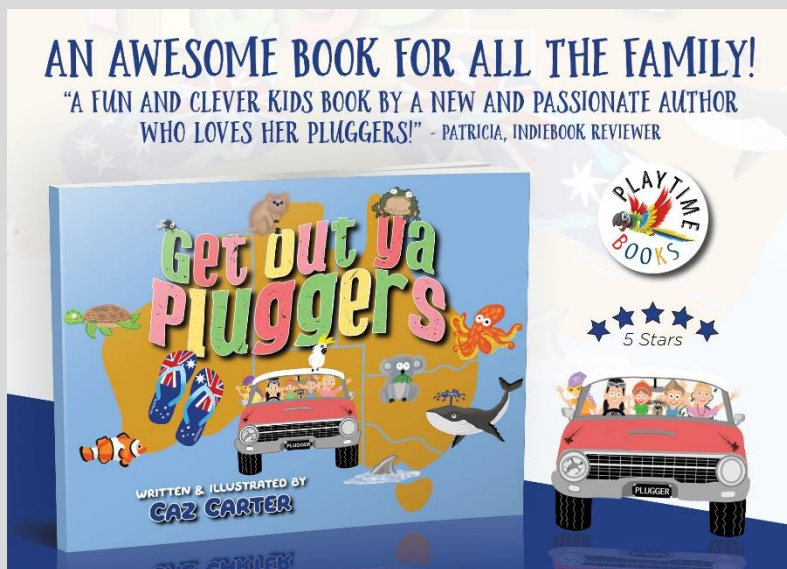

Join as many author clubs and groups as you can. Understand current books and trends to help inform your work. Have fun with it.

WHAT DREW YOU TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE BOOK AND ALSO THESE CHARACTERS WITHIN?

As soon as I thought up the idea for this book, I couldn't stop laughing! The book just flowed out of me and was thoroughly enjoyable to write.
