ONE SINGLE MOMENT CAN CHANGE EVERYTHING...

Lauren Walker has always dreamed of being a violinist. But on the evening of her showcase performance, Lauren is caught in a tragic accident that brings great loss and pain to her future.

Lauren can barely look at a violin, let alone consider playing one ever again...

Fletcher Reid has always been compared to his father but he is determined to stand alone without any comparison, even if that means resigning as captain of the basketball team.

When Fletcher and Lauren meet, the two find themselves constantly in each other's presence, as if bound by a connection they must abide to.

Yet when Lauren discovers that Fletcher's father was part of the accident that caused her such immense pain and loss, it may undo more than just their new relationship...

"A compelling and emotional story of love and redemption and struggle to find the real worth of the heart... Wonderful..."
Alison, Indie Book reviewer

A CONVERSATION WITH THE AUTHOR

WHEN DID YOU FIRST REALISE YOU WANTED TO WRITE?

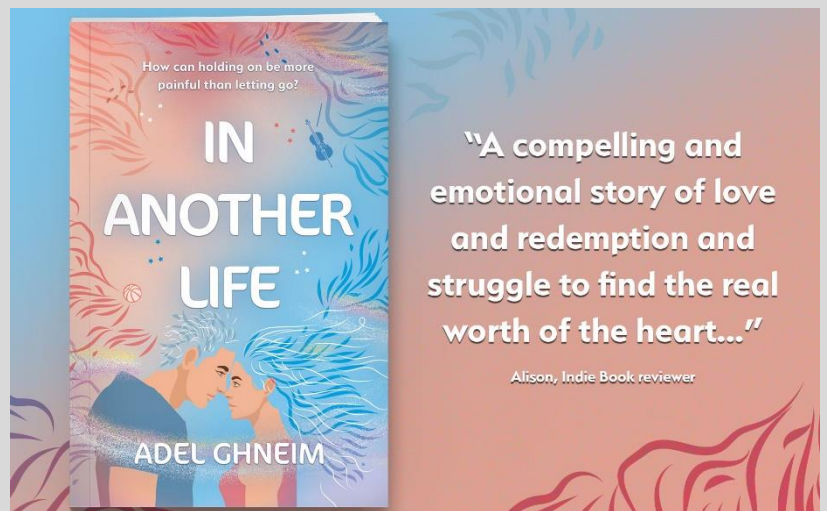

It was 2014, The Fault in Our Stars (written by John Green) was playing in cinemas. I went to watch it and the way it had the audience emotional made me want to write something that could have that kind of an impact on someone.

WHAT DREW YOU TO THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE BOOK AND ALSO THESE CHARACTERS WITHIN?

I was drawn to how emotional and simply human the subject matter of the book is. To me, I am drawn most to the impact my novel and the characters have on my readers.

HOW DO YOU SELECT THE NAMES OF YOUR CHARACTERS?

I typically just search names on the internet and find one I like. But if there's a character that I want to have specific meaning behind their name, I research the meaning behind various names until I find one that I think is the best fit for the character and their relevance in the manuscript I'm writing.
